Never complain about a client with a difficult personality, because he will make you improve. Take better care still of the others: they are the cause of your profits.

The consultant, an added value for your business

A specific know-how for a specific need:

Helping you to achieve your projects and take the right decision at the right time for your business calls for different technical and professional knowledge.

Benefiting from external competence will open up new alleys of thoughts and enable you to choose the best operating methods and improve your business processes through systems already used by other firms or public bodies in France and abroad.

This can entail following-up an export move, advising on the legality and pitfalls of a business deal in another European country, drafting contracts and terms and conditions, setting-up quality control, finding solutions for financial and HR systems, record management, organizing support services, strategic planning or CRM systems.

The consultant is the right person to contact:

-) he is experienced and knows the needs and requirements of a business, very often he has himself managed a business;
-) he is a specialist who has gained his knowledge through numerous different situations and a complete command of his professional field.

-) he is somebody you can trust with a new and positive view of your business.
-) he is a flexible adviser who will adapt to your priorities and schedules.

Taking advice, a wise and reasonable choice for any business

By Xavier Thévenot,
Director of CPC NETWORK®.

« Consultant myself and a Director for 30 years, I set up CPC NETWORK® in 1997 in order to answer the growing need of businesses and public agencies for services and advice.

Professionalism: this is the key word now; more and more owners and managers seek external competence in order to help them achieve their goals while sharing their strategic values.

With CPC NETWORK®, I chose to create a multidisciplinary network of specialized French and foreign Consultants.

CPC NETWORK® is a pool of complementary expertise for services to private businesses and government agencies, all sectors are represented with an ongoing trademark: quality.

More than ever, outsourcing and external advice are a wise move from an economic point of view, and a good investment from a competitiveness point of view. »

CPC NETWORK®, efficiency of people through their competence

If you work with consultants from CPC, you will get the services of dedicated professionals, helped by a stable international network. We offer you real guarantees :

- CPC consultants are all experienced : they have practised at least 10 years in their speciality ;
- Every professional has been rigorously selected : at CPC, competence and experience have been checked by our executive committee ;
- CPC NETWORK® takes into account teamwork between consultants to the benefit of the client : sharing of experience, common research and sharing of competence.
- CPC NETWORK® includes the major fields of advice :
 - Strategy and policy ; Marketing and business advice ; Export and international assistance ; Communication ; Human Resources ; Legal and Tax ; Finance ; Quality ; Design ; Environment ; Production and Logistics ; Technology ; Information Systems ; Project Management ; Risk Assessment and Management ...
- CPC NETWORK® offers to its members valuable logistic and administrative help: this enables the consultant to concentrate better on his service and give better quality.
